The Wayback Machine - https://web.archive.org/web/20120324150912/http://www.semroc.com:80/documents/sem...

SEMROC Minute

March 22, 2012

New Kits...

We have just released four more kits for the spring.The Bandit™ has been in the works for some time. The internal baffle or ejection ducting system is one of the most elaborate engineering designs from the early days. Most of the "beauty" of this kit is hidden inside, but the baffling system works great! The Blue Bird Zero™ is one of Mike Dorffler's classic designs from the 80's. It has been cloned, upscaled and downscaled over the years, proving it has stood the test of time. We have released it as Magnum™ so it flies on a wide range of engines (18mm and 24mm) on all sizes of fields. The Nomad™ is a much requested Centuri kit. We changed the fiber fins to balsa and basswood to make it more rugged. The original had aluminum foil bands that are not included with this kit. As a final step, it made it too easy to mess it up. If you insist on the aluminum foil bands and swear to Sheryl that you can apply them without having to start over, tell her in the notes and she will include the bands while we still have them.

Starship Series...

We have just released the Starship Vega™ as the first Starship entry. Over the coming months we will release the Starship Excalibur™ and the Starship Correy™ We are starting a competition within the SAM Team to design the fourth model in the Series, the Starship _____ (the winner will fill in the blank.) Only SAM members can enter their designs, but everyone will be able to vote on the winning design and purchase the final release.

SAM Team

If you are a SAM member and are not registered on YORF, please register so you can get the latest updates! We will be posting another contest shortly as well as details for the Starship Design Contest. If you are not a SAM, you need to see what else you are missing.

Thanks for your support of Semroc. We owe our continued success to you and we sincerely appreciate all your help.

/ The Semroc Crew/
Sheryl, Lisa, Bruce, Carl, Gizmo, Beans, Abby, Sami and Scooter

---

You've received this message because you have ordered from Semroc in the past and specified that you wished future updates from our site. If you wish to unsubscribe then reply to this email with "unsubscribe" in the subject line.

Semroc Astronautics Corp http://www.semroc.com
Contact email: sales@semroc.com